With Ferrin Cox

I hasten to make excuses for the picture of myself on the front page. This makes the second week in a row that for some reason or another the photographer has found an excuse to get in front of the camera. I make a solemn promise not to give a repeat performance next week. That is unless Governor Lester Maddox of Georgia hears of my trip to Six Flags Over Georgia this weekend and we get our picture taken as he tries to get my support for his proposed effort to get his wife elected Governor of the State of Georgia. Do you reckon this will happen?

The letter on this page from Wayne Boswell concerns an effort to do something for our children and the public in general. She mentions a statement in this column last week about the City Fathers being at a loss for something to do other than offer moral support to the local teenagers who were holding the Decency Rally in Enterprise. I am sure that Mrs. Boswell, like myself, did not take the statement as a critism of our City leaders and is offering her information as a guide for them and others who are looking for some way to improve the climate for all children.

While I am writing about decency, you must have noticed the good family type shows scheduled on the the weekends recently, at the Dixieland Drive-In. My family attended the show "Angel in My Pocket" Sunday night and enjoyed it. Of course the manager, Hubert Yon, swore that he was sure the only reason I went to a show was because of the two press passes he mailed in last week. (This ain't so and I did spend some money at the popcorn stand). Anyway they have another good one this week, it is a Walt Disney, which is about the only kind my daughter and I are old enough to watch. These folks advertise with us and of course I want them to do good but above that, the people who want the theatres to show good movies should at least show their support at the ticket booth. When you stay home during a good clean family movie and attend a shoddy "adult only" movie you are possibly the straw that broke the camel's back when it comes to scheduling good movies. Well, to tell the truth, I kinda like the daring movies a little myself - the ones that were daring ten or fifteen years ago!

I must make one passing remark at the Federal Government. It is not original but was rather cute to me. It looks like the federal government could do something else to commemorate the sudden death of Abe Lincoln rather than make that day (April 15) the deadline for filing your income tax return!

We all know that death is coming to ourselves and our loved ones sooner or later but this does not soften the blow when the death is that of our loved one. This was brought out vividly to me this week when we got a call that my wife's father had died suddenly of a attending the meeting were tive hats, jackets, and miniheart attack. Dear Ferrin:

"ifs" in such an event, but in the same sitting we managed to talk about social security benefits available to both of us at age 62 or 65, whichever a person decided to take. Apparently, thought of "self preservation" instilled in us by the man up above is what keeps us from dwelling on the thought of "I gotta die sometime". If we did not push this thought back, life would surely be miserable.

There was a fish supper at the Elba Country Club last Saturday night. I did not attend this one but did attend the steak cook-out several weeks ago. I am strongly considering going to each one held in the future. Often you hear on Monday that "so and so got drunk at the Country Club Saturday night - they had another drinking party." I guess it is my old boyhood daredevil popping up and just daring someone o develop a convincing story that ole tee-todler me (won't even sample your eggnog on Christmas) got rip roaring drunk, just because I happen to be sober enough to leave my house and attend a party with my friends at the nice Elba Country Club.

For a moment put yourself in my place - you don't drink, simply because you don't want to; you don't smoke because you feel silly with a cigarette and your old pipe takes to much time to bother with; you try not to use much bad language and can never remember a dirty joke long enough to repeat it; and you also figure it is a good investment not to give your wife anything to be jealous about. Now that puts a large segment of our world's population who do at least one of things I don't do. Therefore I try to judge my fellow man by something other than the things he does that I don't do. If I didn't, soon I would be convinced that I was a little higher up the ladder that anyone else. The world would be a better place to live if we all do what I say that I do!
